When did the new standard come into force?

The new BS8599-1 compliant kits were effective from 30th June 2011, with a transitional introduction period until 31st December 2011.

The old standard

This standard replaces the BHTA-HSE kits 10, 20 and 50, that are currently universally used in the UK, and are based on the HSE guidelines. The Current BHTA standard was published in 1997, and is long overdue a review. The BHTA standard will be withdrawn from 31st December 2011.

What the law says

The Health and Safety (First Aid) regulations 1981 states:

"An employer shall provide or ensure that there are provided such equipment and facilities as are adequate and appropriate in the circumstances for enabling first aid to be rendered to his employees if the are injured or become ill at work"

The new first aid kits are now the only safe and clear way for employers to meet their obligations.

Health & Safety (First Aid) Regulations amended October 2013

British Standard for Workplace First Aid BS8599-1

Employers are required to conduct a risk needs assessment and choose a first aid kit that meets their needs. The British Standard BS8599-1 for Workplace First Aid offers four kit sizes, and guidelines to match the kit to the risks identified in the workplace.

1. Identify your risk needs:
 - LOW RISK (e.g. shops, offices, libraries etc.)
 - HIGH RISK (e.g. light engineering and assembly work, food processing, warehousing, extensive work with dangerous machinery or sharp instruments, construction, chemical manufacture etc.)
2. Decide on the size and quantity of kits required to meet your risk needs assessment:

SMALL KIT USAGE GUIDELINES
LOW RISK Less than 25 employees
HIGH RISK Less than 5 employees

MEDIUM KIT USAGE GUIDELINES
LOW RISK 25-100 employees
HIGH RISK 5-25 employees

LARGE KIT USAGE GUIDELINES
LOW RISK 1 Large Kit per 100 employees
HIGH RISK 1 Large Kit per 25 employees

Our catering kits are the only ones available that contain blue dressings - giving you the employer every reason to show you did everything possible to meet your obligations in a catering environment.

- Smart: A strong corporate identity makes the product very catalogue friendly and an internationally recognised brand.
- Compact: New boxes for gloves, wipes and plasters, creating a more compact, concise and structured kit.
- Efficient: Clearly branded and colour co-ordinated products give our kits the edge in efficiency during an emergency situation.
